Fiftieth Anniversary.

On last Thursday occurred the fif:ieth or Golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Habn at their home in Paris. In honor of the occasion the children, gradchildren and old neighbors and friends gathered at their residence to the number of seventy-five or more. Willing hands soon prepared a long table which was soon groaning under its weight of pie, cake, chicken and all the delicacies of the season. But before feasting upon the good things before them Rev. Ernst of Robertsville, with a few well prepared remarks presented the couple with many valuable and useful presents, among which was a pair of gold spectacles for each, presented by their children. The occasion was enlivened with music by the young folks. Mr. Hahn, although aiready in the present of th past the 75th milestone and an invalid for several years, enjoyed the day with the vigor of youth and as the sun neared the western horizon the merry crowd dispersed wishing them the return of many happy anniversaries.

A Pleasure Trip to New Berlin.

A merry party of twenty young Canton folks spent Sunday at a farm house three miles west of New Berlin. After a day of the most perfect enjoyment, they returned on the Valley about 9 o'clock. There was only one drawback to the day's pleasure. In walking out to the day's pleasure. In walking out to the piace in the morning two of the party got lost, and after journeying to McDonaldsville, two miles further or, were directed to "Aunt Mary's house," which they reached about 10 house," which they reached about 10 o'clock. The proprietor of the Eastern Shirt Store probably knows more about it than anyone else.

Sham Battle in Which Large Number of Veterans Participated.

Horrible Accident to a Barberton Man Who Has Both Hands Blown Off-Complete Report of the Fourth of July Doings in Canton

Such an enthusiastic and patriotic celepration of the Fourth of July has probably never heretofore had such a successful promulgation as the citizens of Canon and people from miles of surrounding country witnessed yesterday. Not slone was this quickened flow of the heart's blood due to what actually occurred during the day, but Old Sol was out in all his glory and he assisted materially in enthusing the old veterans and the young boys in blue to give an example of how the old and aged of our veterans fought for the glorious stars and stripes, three decades ago. The American youth and his big fire cracker were on deck too, and the big boy with his little toy cannon wearled himself walking through the strests ever and anon firing off his cancon and waking the citizens with a dull, quick report, and making the sound sleeper think he had just landed on a battle field and was engaged in the flercest of hostilities. The little girl came in for her participation also. She walked along the thoroughfare carrying with her a suspicious looking package which might have contained a big pienic lunch, but which turned out to be naught but a colossal fortune invested in fire crackers and barmless torpedoes. The old bell in the court house tower began tolling as soon as the court house clock tolled the hour of 12 Monday night, Instantly there was a terrific banging and incessant clanging and yells of delight and huzzas for the glorious Fourth. The people were early astir on the streets, the young ladies in their lovilest new dresses, and their gallant escorts seeing to it that burning "sizzer" or a half burned fire cracker didn't fall upon their fairest one's clothes or that the busy drivers of horses along the streets didn't throw them down while making a crossing. The rays of the brilliant sun added charms to the occasion and everybody was filled with giee and happiness. Besides the sham battle there were other equally interesting attractions which the citizen as well as the visitor

looked after. MEYER'S LAKE

Is one of the many resorts which Can. tonians can truly be proud of. It is not merely an expansive sheet of water in which the prospective seeker after the flupy tribe may cast his baited book, but it has charms besides, beautiful and impressive, and a day may with pleasure be passed on the green shores fine water. When the electric cars first made their trip to this place in the morning, crowds of people awaited their coming at the Square. It is computed that at least 3,500 people visited the lake during the day. A programme of races and sports appended were sufficient to alone attract visitors.

Mr. Frank X. Menegay and Fred Newhienn couldn't find any entries for the boat race so they plied the oars them. selves in order that no attractions advertised would be missed. Of course the people cheered when the three big fat fellows got out of the boats and commencreliows got out of the boats and commenced to breathe in a space of atmosphere for a radius of twenty feet. Mr. Newbeinn got his first prize and Mr. Menegay came in second, while Dave Johns came in third puffing wind like a steam engine. In the swimming match Jas. McKier-

The sham battle was announced for the afternoon and many people after witness ing the sports at the lake, immediately went to the city and watched the big pay rade of soldiers and civic orders. It would require a dozen columns to detail the names of officers and the titles of the various patriotic bodies who participated in the parade. First came officers in chief, followed by the Osnaburg band and Jr. and Sr. O. U. A. M's of that village, as well as Canton lodges of the same order; Union cavalry; officers in command on horseback; New Berlin band; various divisions of Unionists; Canton Encampment No. 84; then followed artillery, accompanied by Bat-tery F, 1st Reg. ambulance of Akron, and ataff of officers and nurses of the Red Cross Society; the ambulance corps; U. S. Cross Society; the ambulance corps; U. S. hospital ambulance (Shilling's); Moses & Reemsnyder's emergency ambulance. Then followed the engine house chemical, hose reel, Daniel Worley steam fire engine, hook and ladder, Louis Schaefer engine, companies Nos. 2, 3, 4 and 5 with nearly displayed apparatus. The Confederate forces followed with commanding officers and field officers on horseback along the line. They were clad in well fitting uniforms of gray. The 'Richmond drum corps' followed. Several troops of typical appearing Confederates preceded some heavy field pieces and ambulances and drum corps. The procession marched through several of the principal streets, and soon afterward wended its way to the fair grounds where dinner was served. After dinner a bicycle race won by John Mobley was engaged in, and all attention was paid to the preliminaries of THE SHAM BATTLE.

THE SHAM BATTLE. And what a battle it was. Everything seemed cleverly arranged, every officer and man stood at his post and details were promptly attended to. An attempt to record the retreats and advances of both armies and the gallant fighting of the boys in blue, could not be fairly demonstrated here. The Confederates occupied the western portion of the grounds inside the race track, and the Union army the eastern portion. Both forces had their field pieces set within good range. A substantially built fort of trunks of trees was built immediately in front of the Commander's tent. The grove was cleared of spectators and the battle commenced in reality. Every available space outside the picket line was occupied by people in countiess mass. Commander Griffin's scouts drove within sight of the Confederates and anticipated their movements and they at once reported to the Major General, who detailed the boys in blue to their respective posts of defense. The old veterans were delegated to the front at first, reinforced by Companies I and L.

there been heard in this community thundering of sand such a thundering of guns and heavy cannon and such volumes of powder smoke as that which emanated from the conflict. It was so real and the contest seemed so rigidly fought that a News Democrar reporter who was standing near a battery nearby really imagined he saw the bloody conflict of '83 fought over again. Again and again the Union forces were led forward and successively retreated under the beavy fire of the gray coats. During the second charge a heavy field plees was captured by Confeds, and with cheers borne over to their line. The flag of truce went forward and the ambulances and their corps of trained men picked up the dead soldiers (?) and conveyed them to the respective hospitals. An amusing incident occurred during the picking up of injured men by the ambulances from the field. There was a sai finals to the battle in which an unfortunate young fellow had both his hands blown off. During the second charge by the Union forces a heavy one hundred and eighty pound soldier was quietly picked up by four of the hospital corps and placed on a stretcher. His comrades looked upon him presumably for the last time and promised to keep his grave green with garlands and fresh green grass. The stretcher was in the hands of four stalwart men and as they stole toward the ambulance the poor soldier closed his eyes in the coldness of death. The fellows were not well acquainted with the ups and downs of Canton land and as they boldly walked along, their lips breathing a lasting prayer for the injured comrade, they failed to notice several post holes immediately in front of them and they imprudently stepped into them. heavy cannon of them and they imprudently stepped

But the dead man behind! He was sent rolling off the stretcher with an "ah-um" exclamation and sent aprawling several feet. The effect of the post holes was magical and they pratty well recuperated the fellow, for the countenance of death which had overtaken him awoke to one of amusement and he shuffled up on his feet to the ambulance before the halhis feet to the ambulance before the bal his feet to the ambulance before the balance of the boys saw the comedy.

During the third charge Companies I and L and the veterans formed for a grand rush and assisted by the well aimed artillery, the fort, ambuscaded by several hundred confederates, was taken and a great cheer arose and the battle was at an end. During one of the charges a Union gun was captured by the Confederates. Taking the sham battle all in all it was a complete success. Canton people may well be proud of Companies I and L and their captains and officers, as the boys certainly won the applause of the thousands of spectators present by their perfect tactics and drilling and the regular maneuvering. It was a gala day in Canton's growth and a successful one at that.

THE VISITING ARMY PLEASED.

The Army of the Cuyahoga arrived here Fuesday morning at 8 o'clock and at once, after participating in the parade, were marched to the fair grounds. The boys state they greatly enjoyed the trip down here. They stopped Monday night at the Graham farm north of this city, breaking camp at 6 o'clock in the morning.

HANDS BLOWN OFF.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT AT THE FOURTH OF JULY SHAM BATTLE.

Young Man From Barberton Meets With an Awful Experience and as a Result He Will Go Through Life Without Hands.

Harry Bachman who is a member of an dependent battery of artillery of Barbertown, near Akron, was the seriously injured Tuesday in the sham battle, Bachman was with Confederates and was about pushing a ram-rod into gun when the gun prematurely went off and indescribably tortured him. The young msn's both hands were torn away and his face powdered and mutilated almost beyond recognition. The ramred was thrown several lundred feet distant where it was broken. coming into contact with a tree. Near by lay the remains of one of Bachman's hands borribly begrimmed with powder. An ambulance quickly conveyed him to the Aultman hospital where he may possibly recover, although some fears are entertained as to his recovery. Bachman is about twenty years of age and is a tile worker. As soon as practicable he will be removed to his home. Just why the cannon exploded at that time is as yet a mystery although it may have been the regult of carelessness on the part of some one.

The injured man's brother if in the city and is seeing that all that is possible is being done to relieve the unfortunate victim of the accident. At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon Bachman was resting well and his recovery now seems probable, but he will be obliged to go through life without hands, as a result of his horrifying experience in the sham battle. The Fourth of July 1893, was no cham for him.

JUMPED INTO THE LAKE

To Escape Punishment at the Hands of Number of Fourth of July Citizens. Two Youngstown men filled up with intoxicants Tuesday at the Lake and bes gan flourishing money around in their hands wanting to bet it on a fight between themselves and somebody else. The Lakeview employes wanted to quiet the fellows, but couldn't and they chased a man named Smith, a respectable looking fellow, into the lake. John Rolli swam after the fellow but the second Youngs. townite followed him and gave Rolli a terrific beating. Considerable blood was shed and the men were badly cut about the faces.

THE SHAM BATTLE SURPLUS,

If There Was Any, Shou'd go to the Young Man Who Lost His Hands. It is said that the Grand Army cleared a little money on the sham battle yesterday. After all the expenses are paid it is probable that the surplus, if there is any at all will be small. But whatever it smounts to, if it is one dollar, or one thousand dellars, it should go, every cent of it, to the young man who, in assisting to make the day a success, met with such a terrible misfortune. The loss of both of his hands incapacitates him for duty for all time Something should be done to help him.

A Finely Uniformed Band. The Osnaburg band made a fine ap. pearance in the parade yesterday. The band has recently donned a new uniform, made by L. L. Shoemaker of Salem, and they make a turnout that put to blush any other uniform in the parade. The band has attained proficiency in a musical

John Corry, a widower, who has severa children residing in Massillon, suffocated early this morning in a room he rented of Mrs. Dengel at No. 72 Housel street. It appears Corry, who was a boiler maker. same home intoxicated last night and laid s lighted eigar on a bed. This ignited the bed clothes and started a blaze. It would seem that Corry made an attempt to escape but got his feet entangled in a chair and fell helplessly upon the floor. Adam Hane and his wife were sleeping across the hall and they smelled smoke and upon rising saw the volumes issuing from Corry's door. They ran and called him. He failed to come out and an alarm was turned in. Foreman William Noalser and Captain Florin Rose and Adam Hane oldly rushed in the room to rescue Corry but the firemen found the fellow lying upon the floor dead with his flash badly charred. It seems Corry, when drunk several times upset lamps and attempted to burn down the bouse. The alarm came n from box 63 and Nos. 2, 3 and the Central responded. Corry's remains will be taken to Massillon for burial. He was a member of the order of Odd Fellows. Mrs. Dengel's loss will reach $150.

HEAD FOREMOST.

Louis Moushey's Brother Nearly Killed at Alliance.

Joseph Moushey, of Alliance, a barber, rother of Louis Moushey of this city, resived injuries in Alliance yesterday which may result fatally. In company with his children he was driving on one of the main streets of the city, at a comparatively rapid trot, when some one threw a fire cracker into the street, the thing exploding in front of the horse. As soon as the cracker exploded, the horse stopped suddenly. Mr. Moushey was not prepared for so sudden a stop and was thrown over the dash board, hanging with his head downward. The animal, badly frightened, started to run. The children were thrown out and were somewhat injured. When Mr. Moushey was extricated from the wreck it was found that his inuries were of a serious character. His head is badly cut and he sustained other injuries. He is a veteran of the fate war and his constitution is not as strong as it might be, hence the wounds may prove fatal. Louis Moushey went to Alliance today to be at his brother's bedside.

SENSIBLE-NOT SENSATIONAL.

You Had Better Read This if You Want

Many persons, especially some of the local advertisers of this city, seem to think that the great Adam Forepaugh Shows waste an immense amount of money in advertising, and think that shows so well established and so extremely popular with the public, need only to announce their coming, to insure them all the business they are capable of taking care of But Manager McCaddon, who conducts this vast amusement enterprise is a man of keen business judgment, and the fact that he does so much advertising is the best argument that he believes that it pays. But in addition to his judgment he has in his employ several of the most expert advertisers in the country, and what is done is likewise a reflection of their judgment, for their chief is not above accepting and acting upon a suggestion from them. One of these experts, who was in this office this week, said upon this subject: "There can be no argument upon such a subject so powerful as the history of all great business enterprises. Without an exception every one of them have made their success through and directly through their advertising. There can scarcely be such a thing as too much advertising.

Advertising.

Advertising is not a condition; it is a principle. It must be done in all kinds of business, and ours is not the only one which has to depend upon it. If we do more advertising than anybody else, and as a matter of fact we do, it is because we want to do a bigger business than anybody else and we do that also. Perhaps we night do it if we did not advertise so much, but we are not willing to make so much, but we are not willing to make so doubtful an experiment. We know it is the newspaper that is a constant adver-tiser of the community in which it is pub-lished, and all share alike fron the certain benefits to community accruing. It is a matter of just as much concern to us, therefore, to see the newspapers succeed as it is to anybody else who benefits from the general prosperity of the community which the newspapers bring about. We dope to get our share of it and feel that the money we spend upon the news-papers is well spent even if they should fait to bring to us but few people, who would come to us if we did or did not ad-vertise. Of course, that is a very broad-gauged idea of things, but then we are a broad-gauged concern and have to leat broad-gauged concern, and have to look farther aboad than those whose business is confined to very narrow limits."

Is not this opinion worthy of considera-tion by the business element of our city? The great Adam Forepaugh Shows never divide. The performances in the smallest towns are identically the same as those given in the largest cities. For that reason it is known as the big city

SHOT IN THE LEG.

An Accident Which Might Have Been Attended With Serious Results.

Mr. Harvey Judd narrowly escaped being seriously wounded by the discharge of a revolver, in the hands of a friend yesterday afternoon, at the residence of Mrs. E. Beatty, of No 87 Lawrence avenue, where a small party were witnessing the sham battle. Mr. W. L. Beatty had a loaded revolver in his hand, and walking around the house, he intended to get behine his wife and scare her by shooting the contents into the ground. Just as he shot, Mr. Judd, who was back of him, stepped forward, and as a result the ball entered the calf of his leg and thence to the ground. A physician was called, and upon examination found that Mr. Judd had received but a slight flesh wound which was promptly dressed, and but few of those gathered at the residence knew that any accident had happened.

TAMMANY HALL'S GREAT CELEBRATION -SENATOR HILL' LETTER ON SILVER.

Western Democratic Congressman Lays Down the Programme-A Conflict of Opinions and Many Comments.

w York, July 5.—The speeches made at the great 4th of July celebration of the Tammany society yesterday, are exciting wide comment here today in business cir cles, especially the speech of Congressman Beauchamp Clark of Missouri. The Missouri congressman proclaimed for the repeal of the Sherman silver law, but insisted that the west would demand additional legislation. He said:

"We Western and Southwestern men are not making any kicks or threats. We are young, virile, prolific, ambitious and not easily bluffed. We have outgrown our swaddling clothes, thrown off all leading strings, and propose to help run the Bemocratic circus. We have avery clear ing strings, and propose to help run the Bemocratic circus. We have a v-ry clear idea of what we want, and we will not be very mealy-mouthed about letting people know cur opinion. Besides a President, we Westerners want a few other things. We want that cowardly makeshift, the Sherman law, repealed, but in its stead we want the money of the Democracy and the Constitution, both allers and gold and the Constitution, both allers and gold and the Constitution, both silver and gold, and as ufficient paper currency to be kept at par with and redeemable in such coin. We want the McKinley tariff so broken down that we can follow the rule of common sense, justice and commerce—sell in the highes market and buy in the lowest. We want the pension list so thoroughly purged that it shall become a veritable roll of honor. We of the West want an roll of honor. We of the West want an income tax on incomes of $10,000 and over so that abnormal wealth may bear its proportional burden. We want true civil service accomplished by placing only Democrats on guard, from Martha's Vineyard to the Aletian Islands, and from the Lake of the Woods to the Dry Tortuges.

Senator Hill did not come down from Albany to attend the celebration, but sent a letter, which is published this morning and which is much commented on. Among other things, Senator Hill wrote: "It is now evident that the financial question, which so recently from various motives was sought in some quarters to be ignored or pushed aside in behalf of other issues, imperatively required precedence as well as recognition, and its solution is demanded not by the adoption of temporary expedients and questionable compromises, but by a return to the sound monetary principles of our fathers. "The unconditional repeal of the Sher-"The unconditional repeal of the Sher-man act, against the enactment of which, to their credit be it said, every Democrat in Cogress voted, is the first and essential step in the right direction. Such repeal is necessary to lay the foundation for the enactment of that legislation or the in-auguration of that international concur-rence which shall eventually lead us to the goal of that free bi-metalic coinage to the goal of that free bi-metalic coinage to which both of the great political parties are solemnly committed."

These sentiments are interpreted to mean that Hill is fully committed to free silver coinage, after the repeal of the Sherman law, on a basis to be fixed, on the builion market value of the two
